Music to Your Ears

You don't need to be a classical music fan to fall in love with Kristina Reiko Cooper's new album, Stone and Steel. When this critically acclaimed bi-continental musician (she divides her time between Tel Aviv and New York City) set out to make her latest album, she wanted to reach out to a broad audience. She decided to remain true to her classical roots, but at the same time create a unique new sound accessible to a contemporary audience.

Inspired by the juxtaposition of the ancient and the modern that surrounds her living in Israel, Kristina combines the best traditions of classical music with a modern edge to create a hauntingly beautiful new sound. Stone and Steel, scored for cello, piano, and percussion, revisits classics from Gregorian chants to Elizabethan songs in a fresh new way that has connected with audiences around the world.

Stone and Steel is the ideal gift for music lovers—and don't forget to order a copy for yourself. Just press "play," and let yourself be transported to another world.
